August 2018 Monthly Report

Personnel:

We currently still have 3 vacant officer positions. The conditional offer made last month was turned down due to starting salary not being competitive. However, a conditional offer was made to another applicant and accepted. That applicant is completing the final steps required to receive Alaska Police Standards Council certification. We hope to have him starting his field training by the end of September. There are also two other applicants being considered. Both of those applicants will require attending the police academy in February.

One dispatch trainee completed training and the other trainee left service. A new trainee has been hired and is early in the field training process. The Dispatch Supervisor position remains vacant with no applicants. The position is being considered for reclassification to an evidence/records clerk since there have been no qualified applicants in over a year. All CSP and CSO positions remain fully staffed.

Operations:

There have been 1,331 calls for service the month of August. This is approximately 200 more calls than July though it is approximately 600 fewer than the same period in 2017. The calls requiring investigative reports remains similar for the same period in 2017. The number of intoxicated pedestrian calls went up nearly 50 compared to July to 239 but down from 558 in August of 2017. Domestic violence investigations remain fairly consistent from the same period in 2017 as well.

The police department investigated a boating collision that involved two boats and a total of 6 victims. One victim died and another victim was medevac'd to Anchorage with serious injuries. There also was a nearly 4 hour stand-off with an armed, barricaded subject who had 4 children in the house with him. That case was resolved peacefully. An AST Crisis Negotiator responded to assist. Both cases involved alcohol.

Chief Waldron Participated in the AVCP Safety Summit hosted in Bethel the first week of August. He also traveled to Anchorage in early August for the first High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area Executive Board Meeting and again to participate in the Statewide Opioid Action Plan Summit for two days. This summit was hosted by the Department of Health and Social Services, Office of Substance Misuse and Addiction Prevention. An officer has been chosen for the WAANT investigator position and he attended a Drug and Alcohol Interdiction class sponsored by the Alaska State Troopers.

Phase II of the e911 system is moving forward with multiple vendors and subcontractors coordinating. Some of the encryption hardware for the dispatch CAD consoles has failed. The consoles are no longer supported and parts are no longer available. A long term solution is being researched.

Animal Control:

There were 39 animal control calls for service for the month with no reported dog bites.

Bethel Municipal Code Enforcement:

Historically, the Bethel Municipal Codes (BMC) that are actively enforced fall under Title 6.04, Animal Licensing and Impoundment, and Title 13.08, Sewer Service. This enforcement is done primarily by the Community Service Officers (CSO). However, because these are public safety issues, Police Officers will address these issues if a CSO is not available. Recently, the Police Department has explored using the CSO to enforce Title 8.12, Plastic Bags and Polystyrene Containers.

CSOs perform a wide range of duties for the City. Their top priority is public safety matters. This includes, but isn't limited to, patrolling for and transporting public intoxicants, investigating dog bites, catching and impounding unrestrained dogs, trapping wild animals that pose a hazard, and illegal discharge of human waste.

Another primary duty of the CSOs is serving court paperwork. When available, they are the primary process servers for Grand Jury and witness subpoenas issued by the court. This can be a very time consuming part of their job as people often avoid service. CSOs also often assist police officers with scene security, traffic control, body transports and other functions to avoid using two police officers.

CSOs would be the most appropriate resource at the Police Department to use for enforcement of other BMC. However, public safety concerns will take priority and this enforcement will be secondary.
